Alleging her husband spent all his money for white mule and consequently failed to provide for his wife and 12-year-old daughter, Bessie Alice Barnett, 362 North College avenue, has filed suit in the Putnam circuit court against Walter Forrest Barnett for a divorce.

According to the complaint, the couple were married November 7, 1916, and separated October 14, 1928. The plaintiff alleges that her husband failed to provide and when she insisted that he do his part, the defendant would get angry and strike her with anything within reach. The wife further charges that her husband would go to Putnam county and stay for a week at a time with what she believed was a white mule joint.

The plaintiff asks a divorce, custody of the daughter, and an order from the court providing $8 a week for support of herself and daughter. Fred V. Thomas is attorney for the plaintiff.

TERS RACE FOR NOMIN-ATION FRIDAY

George S. Harney, Democrat of Greenville, former Greenville candidate for joint senator from Putnam and Montgomery counties, on Friday had his declaration of candidacy for the position of joint senator from Putnam and Montgomery counties, on Friday.

Harney served as secretary of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce for several years. He went from Greenville to Crawfordsville where he filled the position for several years. He was a Democratic candidate who was defeated in the election of 1928. He was a candidate for joint senator from Putnam and Montgomery counties, on Friday.

OUR PARKING LANES

The attempt to regulate traffic and parking in Greenville by the present city administration is commendable, but is working a hardship on the persons who are attempting in all good faith to follow it. The promiscuous use of police stickers is not for the best interest of Greenville. It is already having the tendency of keeping more timid drivers from coming down town.

The parking lanes are drawn at such an angle that it is impossible to park a car in them if the spaces are crowded and if cars are parked on both sides of the streets, unless one pulls forward and backward several times and in this time, traffic is always blocked. The larger cars are impossible to park within these lines if there is only one left, because of their angle.

The idea of educating the public to park within the smallest space possible is all right, because the parking question is a big problem, but everyone does not accept a police sticker with the same cheerfulness that the writer did not many days ago, and because of this fact, we believe a more constructive method could be followed. Instead of using the stickers as now in use, asking the driver to call at police headquarters, why not use one that will ask the driver to park within the specified lines, and give him the reason for the request.

SPECIAL SERVICE

If the census takers were to include the question, "What is your favorite passage of Scripture in the Bible?" there is no doubt but what there would be an overwhelming positive answer in favor of the Twenty-third Psalm. It is one of the first group of verses learned by the children and remains a favorite "even down to old age." Closely allied to this lyric of David, is the beautiful setting in the Gospels of Jesus as the Good Shepherd.

Sunday night in the Presbyterian church, the entire service will center around the "Shepherd with the Sheep and the Lambs." Pictures will be shown on the screen illustrating this interesting subject. The scripture passages and the music will all be related to the theme.

The public is cordially invited to share in this service.

OPERETTA AT HIGH SCHOOL IS ENJOYABLE

"PEGGY AND THE PIRATE" IS DELIGHTFUL MUSICAL PRODUCTION

CAST IS EXCELLENT

Operetta To Be Repeated Again This Evening. Many Features Included In Show

Last night before a small but very appreciative audience the high school glee clubs presented one of the most delightful performances given in the high school in many years. The name of the operetta was "Peggy and the Pirate" written by Geoffrey Morgan and Geoffrey O'Hara. It is quite suitable for young amateur people to present, and is one of the better types of school operettas. It abounds in beautiful and attractive music, has some clever and clean comedy, and an interesting plot. Principal parts were taken by Vera May Knauer, Jane Durham, Corinne Owens, Elizabeth Knauer, Robert Bohard, Harold Vawter, Charles R. Brown, Edward Taylor, Robert Dirks and Joe Comstock, all of whom were carefully chosen, did fine characterizations and some excellent singing.

Remarks by many in the audience after the performance were to the effect that this production truly deserved a much larger patronage by school patrons than it received last night. K. R. Umfleet and his crew of assistants have done a fine production and it is to be hoped that many more people will avail themselves of the opportunity to see the final performance tonight. (Incidentally, it might be said here that Mr. Umfleet is regarded as an authority on operetta production in schools, having written and published the first book on the subject that has gained for its author a fine reputation thru its wide distribution.)

Between the acts a clever and delightful Japanese specialty was given by five girls from the Junior high: Juel Maddox, Zenobia Adkinson, Virginia Young, Jeanne Hoffman, and little Luella Gilmore from Anderson who happens to be spending her spring vacation here with relatives.

The operetta will be repeated tonight with a different cast of principal characters. This is in itself an unusual procedure and according to the director it has been a happy and profitable device. The following people will play leads in tonight's performance: Ioleen Thomas, Leota Mullins, Mary Gregg Bruner, Esther Benefield, Philip Taylor, Charles W. Brown, Charles R. Brown, Edward Taylor, Robert Dirks, and Joe Comstock. Reserved seats can be obtained at Sam Hanna's store or at the door. The curtain raises at 8:15 tonight.

Members of the "Best Singers Club" are invited by Mr. Umfleet and the members of the cast who are playing "Peggy and the Pirate" to attend their final performance this evening (Friday) at 8 o'clock. Because they are members of this club and to award them for their efforts in singing in their class they will be admitted free to tonight's performance. They must be accompanied by their parents and must sit with them. If you are in this organization, apply at the ticket desk for your ticket at the high school.

Tribby on Washington street in the city of Greenville last December 14, Laverne Smiley, 9-year-old son of Bert Smiley, has filed suit in the Putnam circuit court against the taxicab operator for $10,000 damages.

BLASTS RAZE FACTORY; TEN DIE, 13 INJURED

FIREWORKS PLANT AT DEVON,
PA., DESTROYED BY SERIES OF EXPLOSIONS

SCENE RIVALS WAR-TIME

Desolation Marks Site Of Factory
After Disaster. Cadets Aid
Police In Patrolling Area

DEVON, Pa., April 4 (UP)—More than 200 persons, made homeless when this town's principal industry was literally blown off the map, awoke from makeshift beds today to look on a scene rivaling war-time desolation.

Their dwellings stood stripped of doors and windows and sometimes barely a stick of furniture remained intact to mark their former homes. Even the coats and blankets they slept in were furnished by civic organizations.

Many of them had lost parents or relatives in yesterday's catastrophe, when six explosions following each other in deadly succession crased the factory of the Pennsylvania Fireworks Display Company and took the lives of ten persons.

Thirteen others were sent to hospitals, some permanently disabled, and not until a careful check of the company's payroll is made, will the exact toll in lives be known.

The list of identified dead today was only three. Other identifications were expected hourly as checking was started.

From the nearby Valley Forge military academy 230 cadets under command of Major Milton G. Baker joined with police in patrolling the desolated section, and an investigation into the cause of the explosion was being made by Inspector R. W. Hackett, of the state department of labor and industry.

Work in the small building of the factory, devoted to the manufacture of aerial bombs, was progressing smoothly at 9:50 a. m. yesterday when a terrific blast wrecked the building and sent its reverberations echoing as far as Philadelphia, Trenton, N. J., and other New Jersey places.

Instantly the place changed into a scene of horror. Those not killed or disabled ran to the street, but were greeted by another ear-splitting blast, accompanied by flames which spread quickly to nearby buildings.

Then four lesser blasts came in succession to add to the confusion. Fire apparatus from nearby points, found the way blocked by fallen trees and telegraph poles. Women, hysterical with fright, ran through the streets and men, women and children ran from nearby buildings only to block the way of rescue apparatus.

The fire was brought under control within an hour and the injured were taken to the Bryn Mawr hospital while nurses and doctors took care of many lesser injured.

The fireworks factory had been made up of four small buildings and it was in the first building where the initial blast occurred that most of the lives were lost. Nine persons, including two women, were killed outright.

Enumerators To Carry Credentials

INDIANAPOLIS, April 4 (UP)—Government credentials carried by every census enumerator protect Indiana citizens against impostors who are expected to take advantage of the 1930 enumeration period to enter homes, perhaps with intent of robbery, police and census officials throughout the state warned today.

"Each enumerator carries government credentials, on a standard size sheet of paper, which he must display upon request," Delbert O. Wilmeth, supervisor of the seventh Indiana congressional district, said today. "Refusal or hesitancy of the worker to comply may be regarded as a suspicious move and should be reported immediately to the District Census officer."

Wilmeth said it would be difficult for an impostor to counterfeit credentials. He said the credentials are official documents of the Federal Government, alike throughout the Nation, and bear the signatures of the District Supervisor and the enumerator.

FORGETS HIS FAMILY

IN MAKING VERBAL WILL

Jacob Hinton, 70 years of age, died at the home of Charles Martin, Tuesday evening, following an attack of pneumonia. The funeral is this afternoon at Ladoga with burial in the Ladoga cemetery. Mr. Hinton had only been at the Martin home since last Wednesday where he was employed on the farm. He came here from Ladoga, where he had made his home with Mrs. Cora Bryant since 1905. Mr. Hinton apparently had no relatives and just before his death told Mason Bryant that he wanted him to settle up all his debts, gave him instructions as to the funeral and burial and also instructed him that all finances and property that remained he should take and invest for the education of his small son, Billie. Mr. Bryant was appointed administrator by the local court. The estate is estimated at $3,000, mostly in liberty bonds.

On investigation of the possible heirs, Mr. Bryant found that a wife and eight children resided in the neighborhood of Darlington and that they had not seen their father since 1905.—Danville Republican.

Lost 38 Pounds Konjola Makes Him Well Again

HAPPY MAN TELLS HOW NEW MEDICINE TOOK HIM FROM SICK BED TO WORK

MR. R. E. SCOTT

"It surely took a remarkable medicine to make me well, and Konjola did it," said Mr. R. E. Scott, 1319 North Washington avenue, Kokomo, Indiana. "I lost 38 pounds, my weight going from 170 to 132 within a year. Though I was always hungry and almost starved, I could eat but very little because of terrible pains that followed. Finally I was put to bed, too weak to be up. I had tried everything and everything had failed. Then it was that a friend recommended Konjola.

"It seemed foolish that I should expect relief, but then I couldn't be any worse, so I decided to try it. I took two bottles and noticed no change. But with the third bottle came improvement. In a month I was out of bed and in six weeks I was back at work. I have regained much of my lost weight, and feel as good as I ever did in my life."

Konjola is sold in the Owl drug store, 14 west Washington street, and at Fleenor's drug store No. 2 Washington street, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this section.

GAS COLLECTION HIGHER

Indiana gasoline tax collected for March, 1930, shows a gain of $343,387.63 over March, 1929, a total of $1,059,599.27 having been collected in the last month.

The gain is attributed to the 1-cent increase in gasoline tax and to a gain of 2,616,260 gallons in consumption during the month.

For the first three months of 1930 tax collections gained $1,022,626.55 over the same period of 1929 and consumption increased 6,166,656 gallons.

WINS CONTEST

Myer Heller, Newcastle, apartment owner and horticulturist, won 6th prize with his magic words, "Cold Time is Coal Time", in the Nationwide coal slogan prize contest sponsored by the National Retail Coal Merchants' association.

Seven nationally known judges chairmaned by Dr. Julius Kline selected the 20 best slogans from 172,670 submitted from all over the world, to obtain a slogan for America's 6th largest industry.

Herbert Moeller, struggling student instructor in the University of Illinois, won the contest with a slogan "Coal—Comfort of American Life."

MANY LICENSES REVOKED

INDIANAPOLIS, April 4.—Since the drivers automobile license law went into effect, there has been 431 licenses revoked and of this number 419 were convicted of intoxication, four for petit larceny and the others for failure to stop after an accident, reckless driving, false statements in application for license and under age.

The total number of licenses revoked since the first of March is 64.

This should be a warning to automobile drivers that when a license is revoked, it is a revoke to which there is no appeal, except for the first thirty days after conviction and that before a Judge of the Circuit Court.

The law has "teeth" in it and it is the purpose of the law to protect the public against avoidable accidents of which a large number is traceable to reckless driving, intoxication, and other violations of the law that endangers life and property.

This law was enacted after a strong pressure was brought upon the legislature by the newspapers, the public and users of the public highways. Several attempts had been made to enact a law, but a lack of general interest delayed action until the session of the legislature of 1929 when a law was enacted that meant all it was intended to mean and is looked upon as one of the best laws of like character of any state in the Union. Many plans were suggested, some of them good while others were unworkable, but after making special investigations the present law was put into effect. Otto G. Fifield, Secretary of State, became personally and that he might be well advised to have visited a number of the where drivers license laws were in operation and by getting together several laws, he succeeded in the present law enacted.

When the law went into effect there was a general uprising of it, but since its good effects are being recognized, it is being praised as one of the best laws of the state for the protection of life and property. The total number in automobile accidents was alarming that something had to be done and the drivers license law was the result of this popular demand.
